The Solicitor-General, A. B. Smith, has stirred up the matter, and put it in court. Mr. Reely will have a chance to learn the penalties of malpractice in office.

Mild Times in Carolina.

Judge Carpenter and Governor Scott seem recently at Loggerheads. A correspondent says Himself "Fair Play," and defends Judge Carpenter counselback at "Fair Play" in the following mild manner, talking occasionally softly swipe Scott by way of parenthesis:

Governor Scott, with his usual cowardice, refuses from and surrender with us. Let pals of the Governor say it will not be by his choice or by his will, but by the force of circumstances. But, an unanimity of sentiment and purpose, in whom it were gross flattery to call it a mob.

Cheerful amusement, this! And an entirely

HON. WILLIAM P. PRICE.

He Converts an Error in Regard to an Alleged Vote Against Increasing Georgia Representation.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, }
Washington, D. C., March 8, 1871. }

Your Washington correspondent of the 1st instant, reports me as having voted against the "Bill to increase the representation of Georgia." This is, in fact, I had voted for the bill. I am altogether in favor of the bill. The bill has never yet been before the House, since I became a member. On the 1st instant, a motion was made to suspend the rules to take up the bill, which motion required a two-thirds vote to carry it. Although present, I did not vote, because the House at every instance, failed to second the motion, and became the sense of the House, for the purpose, and for the purpose only, that they were willing to consider the bill. In this way we have been trying for the session to suspend the rules on Friday evening, for the purpose of taking up the bill, or a similar bill, and failed for the want of a two-thirds vote, except on the 1st instant, when I voted with the majority.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
W. P. PRICE.

[EDITORS' CONSTITUTION:—BACK AND REPLIES TO THE ARGUMENTS OF "NEMESIS" ON THIS SUBJECT.]

Editors Constitution: Had I been the apologist of Bullock I would have looked for some one more learned than this, now making such a poor journal than this, now making such a poor journal than this, and instead of discussing a question as old in our State as the existing Constitution of 1798, in the article represented by Nemesis, I would have taken broader ground, such as the Governor's abuse of the pardoning power; his acts touching the bonds of the State Road; his disposition of the public money and his horrible appointment of a negro judge to administer criminal justice over one of the most enlightened communities of the State, and numerous other things than the one which I have referred to. This constitutional question, which is as much a political question as it is a legal question, I discussed with great care, and I have been made by Governor Bullock and his apologists, to feel the full force of the Constitution of 1865. I therefore thought but little of the present Governor of this question.

It is manifest that the appointments are illegal, because the Governor's commission is illegible. I discussed two questions in the article, and I have not yet answered either of them. The first was, whether the office was vacant, would the commissioner have to fill the vacancy—and the question is not to be fill the vacancy—and the commission that I submitted to the consideration of the public. This was an independent question, and has not been connected with what I stated in the first question. The first question might be decided against the Governor, and the second in favor of the Governor, and the second in favor of the Governor, with no inconsistency, for the reason that the Governor, who held the office was vacant, by the Constitution, and the office was vacant, for instance, might not vote for himself, and the chairman of the office would be denied by a political assembly that he is ineligible, and the chairman admitting the fact of a commission I necessarily lend the form of a commission. I not only report the power to grant it, but I report the power to grant it, not only report the divinely personifying the righteous anger of the gods has abolished the distinction between exceptions and rules to the merits.

2. Professing to give my argument on the second question, she throws it in the form of a ridiculous syllogism, and represents me as having begged the question and assumed the vacancy in dispute. On the contrary, I argued from the meaning of the words "vacancy" and "otherwise," and from the apparent intention of the framers of the Constitution at the time of the appointment will meet the usual sense of the word vacancy was such as contemplated by the Constitution. The statement of my argument, as she gives it, is accurate, provided the same virtuous indignation of the gods has likewise erased the difference between a statement and a misstatement.

3. I used this sentence, speaking of the office: "For the whole time, if there is any pending in vacancy for a day, or for a week, unless a vacancy must be once filled and poured out before it can be empty." Commentator Nemesis will not determine how a vessel can be poured out. I suppose that she insinuates that only the contents can be poured out. She will give lessons in the King's English. Our present version of the Bible has been held on all sides to be a wonderfully correct example of the true vernacular. In the 16th chapter of Revelations, the expression pouring out the vial occurs so many times that Nemesis exercise her arithmetic in finding out how often. Beginning with the first instance, and then I will leave her to [illegible] under Metonymy. This [illegible] is of Greek origin, [illegible] of the [illegible]

[illegible] ares nothing for distinctions, and, in the latter expression, she seems to have wiped out that little difference of sex for which the good old amen brother thanked his Lord.

4. Nemesis cites the act establishing the Court; the clause in full is: "The District Judge and Attorney shall be appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate, and hold their offices for a period of four years." Then she asserts: "This is the original appointment." If she means anything, she means that the quoted words apply to the first appointment and no other. But how can she say that when the same section from which I have taken the words, goes on to fix the salaries of these officers? Does it fix them for only what she calls the original appointment?

After the first term expires, must there be another act to fix the salaries of the successors? This construction of Nemesis will not do unless she has the hardihood to make the whole act of like temporary operation. The words quoted by her in the act only repeated what had been enacted by a higher power: the Constitution had already said in effect precisely the same thing, and the words quoted have no more additional force than that sec. provided by law." Says she to the Governor: "Admitting that these offices were vacant, as soon as the act went into operation, still you had no power to fill them, because the Governor is that which they are to be filled, in language in which they are to be filled, in Governor provided by law." The angry Goddess is tinder here than any where else. filling an office regularly, is given that same must also be followed in filling vacancies. For instance, a vacancy in the office of Solicitor General cannot be filled without the advice and consent of the Senate, because the Constitution has provided that the Senate must concur with the Governor, in filling the office. I make hold to say, that if it is no more the Constitution than some of the expressions of Nemesis are English, or her reasoning logic.

The Constitution says the Governor shall fill all alone 5 vacancy occuring, if the law does not otherwise provide how such a vacancy shall be filled. Nemesis cannot invoke the act establishing the courts, unless there is an express provision therein for filling vacancies, for the law sometimes provides otherwise for filling vacancies than by the appointment of the Governor. After reading her Bible and Grammar, let Nemesis consider section 332 of Irwin's Code, wherein it is directed how a vacancy in the office of sheriff can be filled. It is easy to see how pushing this construction of Nemesis to all parallel cases will which the weight of an argument is to conclude that she will. She would go on to conclude that as the language is—"vacancy occurring by death, resignation or otherwise"—only such other vacancies as are similar in nature to those made by death and resignation are contemplated.

She would apply the only rule of construction that such general words as "or otherwise," following an enumeration of particulars, shall not be held to include cases of a higher class than those enumerated. I do not quarrel with the rule. I only oppose its application here. I understand that the vacancy must be an essential difference, that the class exceptional must be of a higher character than those enumerated. If the word is a place that is to be expelled to an office, and as soon as the office is filled, it ceases to be a vacancy, occurring in the over-term in it, differs in essence from a vacancy occurring in the office. The established office may be filled, but the office is not empty, and as applied to the vacancy, the word is "otherwise" with the office itself make it no more empty than the others? Are there degrees in absolute emptiness? The character of office is precisely the same, and that is so, sort is precisely the same, and that is so, by this office is in it. That defines the vacancy.

Nemesis says that the provisions of the constitution as to filling regularly and of the mode of filling vacancies, and further appears that a vacancy occurring from failure to fill is of the same kind with the other, and, therefore, within the clause of the constitution in question.

ATTICUS.

SUPREME COURT OF GEORGIA—Hearing Docket—March 11, 1871.—Argument of No. 9, Flint Circuit, was concluded.

No. 11 was withdrawn. It is Wm. H. Stewart vs. Lewis Reynolds et al. Proceeding against a tenant, from Upson.

Hoyt, Reid, A. M. Speer, for defendant.

No. 12 was argued. It is John H. Lyon, vs. Duke Williams. Complaint, from Upson.

Doyal & Nunnally, for plaintiff in error.

Smith & Alexander, John J. Hall for defendant.

Court then adjourned till 3 o'clock, P. M.

☞ An Englishman, dining in a Chinese village, was greatly enjoying a savory dish, and would have expressed his pleasure to the waiter, with interpreter, understood nothing of English, could only offer a word of Chinese. The snarling of the question in satisfaction; and then came the question in English, which he supposed to be that of the English-man, with an enquiring look, said: "Quack, quack, quack?" The waiter, grinning from ear to ear, and shaking his head, as much as to say, "No," replied: "Bow, wow, wow!"

☞ The editor of the Zanesville Times heard Nilsson at Columbus. The following is an extract from his criticism: "She can go up to fever heat or down to fifty degrees below zero with as much ease as water runs off a goose's back, and her voice fascinates wherever it reaches. She flats and sharps with an accuracy of the pianoforte, and her voice dies away like the echo of the voice of mercy."

☞ John Covode (Radical) is reported to have remarked to a Democratic member of Congress, a short time before his death, that Grant and his jobs were too heavy a load for the Radical party to carry, and if the Democratic party didn't act like fools, there was nothing to prevent their electing the next President.

☞ Gen. Braxton Bragg has brought suit against the government for the recovery of his Louisiana plantation, and certain New Orleans bank stocks, confiscated for his active participation in the rebellion. Bragg thinks the United States have no right to interfere in his energetic endeavor to separate them.

☞ A New England Senator said to-night that the downfall of the Democratic party dated from the day the Buchanan administration demanded that Douglas should be removed from the chairmanship of the Territorial Committee, and that a similar fate awaited the Republican party on the sacrifice of Mr. Sumner.

☞ Grant's commissioners to adjust the claims of Southern "loyalists" are all Northern Radicals. Even Grant has no confidence in carpet-baggers or scalawags. All the use he has for them is to do the dirty work of the Radical party.

☞ A Sun correspondent says that on board the Tennessee the band played the Star Spangled Banner every night, the Commissioners played whist, and the correspondents played h—ll generally.

☞ The Chicago Times' fashionable intelligence mentions that "there were more ribbons and false hair on the streets and in the parks yesterday than there have been on any day this year."

☞ A correspondent writes from London that Robert Browning has never made more than $2,000 from all his poems, and that but for a private fortune he would have starved to death.

☞ "George," asked a teacher of a Sunday-school class, "who above all the others should you like to see when you get to heaven?" With a face brightened up with anticipation, the little fellow shouted, "Gerliah!"

☞ Miss Kellogg has received an offer for twenty nights, which, on account of previous engagements, she was compelled to decline.

☞ Among the heats of Gubernatorial candidates in Kentucky—some ten or twelve in number—General D. C. Buell, The General's chances, we judge, are rather slim.

"Schnapps" is a remedy in chronic catarrhal complaints, rheumatic pleurisy in bearing highly creditable testimony to its efficacy as a remedial agent in the diseases for which it is recommended it. Having a similar tendency to the mucous surfaces, with a slight degree of stimulation, it tends to allay irritation, and to restore the healthy secretions. I regard it as one of the most important remedies in chronic catarrhal affections of the mucous surfaces, with a slight degree of stimulation, it tends to allay irritation, and to restore the healthy secretions. I regard it as one of the most important remedies in chronic catarrhal affections of the genito urinary apparatus.

DEFIES REFUTATION

BY W. A. HEMPHILL & CO.

J. W. AVERY, Editor.

Morning Edition.

ATLANTA:

SUNDAY, MARCH 12, 1871.

☞ Bismarck has arrived in Berlin.

☞ Grant expects the San Domingo Commission to return in ten days, or two weeks.

☞ Sumner is going to push his bill to give the negroes equal social rights.

☞ On Monday, one hundred and twenty-three new bills and resolutions were introduced in the Forty-second Congress.

☞ It is said that such men as Trumbull, Carpenter, Conkling, Edmunds and Schurz, oppose Foster Blodgett's admission.

☞ The bill allowing ten per cent interest by contract, has passed both Houses of the Kentucky Legislature, and goes to the Governor.

☞ Booth, the tragedian, has tried his hand as shakesperian comedy. As Benedick, in "Much Ado About Nothing," the World regards him as a failure.

☞ It is said the great Nathan murder mystery has been solved. A well known thief and desperado named Wm. Forrester, aged 35 years, is the murderer.

☞ The last news is that Congress will stay in session from four to six weeks. Action is wanted on the Ku-Klux, the Domingo job, the coal duty, the tariff and tax reduction, &c.

☞ Mr. Shellabarger has introduced a bill to authorize the President in cases of insurrection to use the army and navy to put it down; also in cases where the State authorities fail or refuse to execute the laws to secure equal protection to all citizens.

Another step to centralism.

☞ Judge Bernard, of New York, has decided that, where a man lives with a woman as his wife, though not married, she shall have the pecuniary rights of a wife. Hugh Brinkley, passed off Lizzie Brinkley as his wife, and then quit her. Judge Bernard gave her alimony.

☞ Republicans in Congress are discussing a proposition for the abolishment of Federal taxation by calling upon each State for its quota of funds necessary to carry on the National Government, which proposition, it is argued, is not only plausible and practicable, but ought to be favored by every State for the reason, that the States would have the entire management of their own affairs in that direction.

Providing for Repudiated Senators.

It is understood that the President will soon nominate to the Senate a number of Senators and members whose terms expire on the 8th instant, to important offices at home and abroad. There is quite a list of these gentlemen, nearly all of whom expect the President to provide for them. Most of them are anxious to go abroad, and, as a consequence, several recalls of persons now deeming themselves secure, are expected.

☞ The London Morning Post affirms the secret treaty between Russia and Prussia was concluded about the time of the outbreak of the war, and says the following were among its provisions: Russia was to intervene between the belligerents, in case the French were successful and should menace Poland. In the event that an Austrian army should demonstrate upon the Prussian frontier, Russia was to checkmate it by a demonstration upon the Austrian frontier, and in case any European power should combine with France, Russia was to join Prussia.

"ALBUS."—In his second letter to Gov. Bullock, "Nemesis," discusses the position of a correspondent of this paper, signing himself "Albus," in regard to the District Courts." "Nemesis" insinuates that "Albus" is a champion of Bullock. While we agree with the legal positions of "Nemesis," and disagree with "Albus," yet justice to the latter requires us to state that he is hostile to Gov. Bullock and his administration, and there are no politics in his positions. The insinuations of "Nemesis" are wholly unobserved. Another communication from "Albus," replying to "Nemesis," will be found on the first page.

Wendell Phillips.

The lecture of this fiery rhetorician and very daring thinker on the Franco-Prussian war is being generally reproduced in the Northern papers. It is quite sensational reading. It says a great many good things, an original things in a very taking, pointed, slap dash sort of way; and it says a good many things too tough for anybody to swallow but Wendell and his peculiar Puritan ilk. The following thought will bear reproduction about the labor question:

I consider it the absorbing question of the next generation, to civilization, and to the governments of Christendom. In Europe its aspect is a political one; here it is social. We have seen half a million of workingmen of Prussia flung against half a million workingmen in France. They did not hate each other—their ignorance of each other was made use of to create unfriendliness. But the Frenchman had built out of his imagination a demon and called it German, the German had built out of his imagination a monster and called it a Frenchman, and both were mistaken, just as we in our war thought of each other; the South thought the North a nation of peddlers that would not fight, and the North thought the South a nation of barbarians. It was not till we had seen each other on fifty battle-fields, that we began to know each other, and one of the best results of the war, is that the sections did come to know each other at last. [Applause.]

Phillips seems to be a vigorous sympathizer with the French, and in intense hater of Bismarck and Emperor William, as these heated sentences will show:

Men say it will take a million dollars to restore the beauty of Paris, but that is hardly a consideration worth mentioning beside the graver aspects of the question. It has made the Prussian a system of preparation for a similar war that will monopolize all the energies of the State in that direction. They took three adult years out of every man's life merely to make him a soldier. Fifteen millions of people have given three years. Forty-five millions of wasted years wherein a man has neither planted nor sown to lease a mortgage on his fellows! This is to make the Prussian army from now a nation able to dictate to Europe at the point of the sword. And if England is ever to maintain her peace, she too, must adopt the system. And so must France; and if you live you will see 700,000,000 of wasted years in Europe—wasted in the mere preparations for battle. The restoration of the feudal system would be no greater evil, and the name of Bismarck that produced such a system, will be loaded with the curses of the next generation. [Great applause, and cries of "Hear! hear!"]

The first step that he made westward Bismarck has forfeited his title of statesman, unless he can prove that he was the tool of a bigoted king or a heathen soldier. [Hisses and applause long continued.] Up to that moment every Prussian had been taught by his mother to revenge the insults of seventy years ago at Berlin. When Bismarck stood there, if he had held out the hand of brotherhood, and said to the people of Germany have no war with the people of France, it would have been a greater guarantee of the peace of Europe than a dozen such territories as Alsace. [Applause.] Instead of that he has planted in every Frenchman's heart the cruel purpose to carry back revenge to the gates of Berlin. I know what is said of Germany, her metaphysics, and her advance in Protestantism, but France has done more for powers, than Germany. [Applause.]

skipping from one subject to another with remarkable agility. He regards as the two great dangers of the future great cities and great railroads.

The lecturer, Radical though he be, paid his respects to the Republican party.

The Republican party itself, with its brow covered with laurels, is rotten to the core—[applause]—rotten to the core with the servility to wealth and capital at Washington. [Voice, "Hear, hear," and applause.]

His last blows were struck for petticoat suffrage, and here they are, very racy reading:

One word more. I think there is an item of strength we may add to the side of honor and the Declaration of Independence in this struggle, and that is woman. [Applause.] I am going to trouble you with one word, not on the subject of woman's rights, although I accord to all of the argument. I think it a just question, well sustained, soundly urged. I train in that regiment. [Laughter.] But it is not as a right; no, it is as a duty. Looking out from that same stand-point, the ballot-box, the advent of women into politics as one of the great strengthening elements, and on this ground. There runs through all human history one law, seeming to be the law of God's government of the race. I think it is this, that wherever you commit to one race a great interest, the interest is lost and the sex deteriorates. Society judges by a higher rule than the statutes. Now, I want in some way to take that atmosphere and clear it so that it shall be in some way the atmosphere of society.

You have been into many a saloon where the partition went half way to the roof, and it said, Gentlemen are requested to remember there are ladies on the other side." I would like to put one up in the caucus. You may probe your man down to the net-work of the natives that make a man up, and, as sure as there is whiskey behind, so there is a law which makes it certain that only standing side by side can we accomplish the best results. So I believe in the politics of the future, with woman as an element within it; not because she is an angel—she is no better than man. [Applause and laughter.] But it is the strongest strand in the rope of hope, and I believe that in this grapple with the ugly lag and underlying dangers which assail us one of the safest aids for the future, is in calling upon woman to remember that she has the blade and the heart, and God does not permit us to excuse it from a share in the great battle for the hopes of the race and the moral government of the century.

A Card.

ALTON ANGIER IN REPLY TO GOVERNOR BULLOCK'S ORGAN.

Georgia Harmony.

There appears to be a lack of harmony among the State officials of Georgia. Dr. N. L. Angier, in a report addressed "To His Excellency Rufus B. Bullock, Governor of Georgia," asks, in his official capacity of State Treasurer, to be excused from venturing on an estimate of the expenses for 1871, giving as his reason that Georgia is blessed with an excessively prodigal and unscrupulous Chief Executive, who turns the public funds broadcast with the hope of buying influence, secured power for corrupt purposes, and who, for mercenary, sordid ends, had issued over four and a half millions of new State bonds, which, in his anxiety to keep the matter concealed from the Treasury Department, he had failed to have executed and registered as the law requires. Can there be any truth in this charge? From what we know of the Governor we do not believe it.—N. Y. Sun.

Our sprightly metropolitan contemporary is very smart, but don't know all things. If he will send a reporter down here to interview the official records, he will know better what to believe.—Constitution.

The charge is, in effect, that the Governor had issued over four and a half millions of new State bonds, which in his anxiety to conceal from the treasury department, he had failed to have executed and registered as the law requires." The charge is not true, either in whole or in part. Four millions and a half of new State bonds have not been issued. Two millions of new bonds have been issued under authority of an act of the General Assembly, for the purpose of redeeming old bonds due and falling due, and will only be disposed of as the demands of the State require. These bonds were issued in strict accordance with the statute, and under the legal advice of the then acting Attorney General, now Chief Justice Lochrane. A report of the issue has been made as required by law.

Here, where the cause for the persistent assaults of Angier upon the Government is well known, these misstatements by Angier do not need correction; but as the matter has attracted the attention of a leading New York journal, we make this correction. And for the same reason we will add for the information of our New York contemporary, that owing to certain developments before an investigating committee, the Legislature deemed it safest to provide, by law, that the new bonds should be issued by the concurrent action of the Governor, Secretary of State and Comptroller General—thus relieving the Treasurer, Angier from any connection with or control of the State's bonds whatever. It is but natural that he should feel keenly this legislative condemnation, but it does not justify him either in assailing the Governor, or making statements which, if believed, would damage the salable value of the State's securities.

This much is said in deference to the New York Sun, and not to the Treasurer or to his organ in this city.—New Era.

The above wails from the Governor's organ of this morning. Pronounce the author of it an infamous and shameless liar; the thing itself, a lie out of whole cloth. The charge that the Governor "had issued over four and a half millions of new State bonds, which, in his anxiety to conceal from the Treasury Department, he had failed to have executed and registered as the law requires," is true in every particular.

I was appointed as the agent of the Treasury Department to go to New York and find out what I could concerning the issue of new bonds. Bullock's agents in New York were specially instructed by him to withhold all information from me. However, after close investigation, I ascertained that Messrs. Charles H. Clayton & Co. had lithographed two millions new currency bonds of this State, apparently executed as required by law, but the Treasurer's signature on the coupons of these bonds was a forged one, put on without his knowledge or consent. Will the Governor's organ deny this?

I further ascertained that the Continental Bank Note Company had lithographed two millions new Georgia gold bonds, interest payable quarterly, and one million eight hundred and eighty thousand new Georgia gold bonds, interest payable semi-annually. None of the coupons of the bonds issued by the Continental Bank Note Company bore the signature of the Treasurer; and the acts authorizing the issue of the bonds did not change the law in this particular, which reads as follows: "They (referring to State bonds) may, before or after issued, be presented to the State Treasurer, who shall sign, in his official capacity, all the coupons thereto attached." See 949, Irwin's Code. Therefore, these bonds were NOT "issued in strict accordance with the statute," the opinion of the then acting Attorney General, now Chief Justice Lochrane, to the contrary notwithstanding.

Section 3 of the bill authorizing the issue of these bonds says, "Said bonds shall be signed by his Excellency the Governor, and countersigned by the Comptroller General, and shall by the Comptroller General be registered in a book to be kept for that purpose, and the amount so issued reported also for record in the Treasurer's office."

"The amount so issued" was not "reported to the Treasurer for record," until after these parties so concealing the amount, issued, had learned through the Treasurer's letters in the public press, that the Treasurer knew all about the issue of these bonds.

With all his lying advertisements in relation to the true condition of the finances of the State, the Governor has failed to effect a sale of these bonds. This shows how capitalists estimate them. The last portion of the above article, from the Era, is beneath the notice of any gentleman.

ALTON ANGIER.

Atlanta, Ga., March 11, 1871.

Southern Outrages.

The President has again been importuned by Senators and members, to know if he intends to sen l a message in on Monday, which will prolong the session, and has replied that if he had any assurance that a bill could be passed through the House to suppress disorders in the South, he would send in one, but having been advised by leading Radical members of the House there is no prospect, he adds, that he is disposed to hesitate about sending in such a message, but prefers to let Congress take the responsibility of acting on the special committee's report on the Southern outrages. He intimates, however, that he will certainly send a message to Congress

"With what Measure Ye Mete, it shall be Measured to You Again."

When the beautiful Queen Louisa, of Prussia, lay upon her death-bed, a youth of scarce nineteen was sobbing in her arms. That dying mother had been insulted at Tilsit by the bullying tone of the first Napoleon. She had witnessed the entry of the conquering legions of the invader into the capital of Prussia; she had mourned over the vandalism of the victor, who tore from the Brandenburg Gate the magnificent car of victory that adorned it; she had been told of how he stripped the National Museum of the beautiful works that were the pride of every Prussian, and she had witnessed the desolation that laid waste every acre of Prussian territory marked by the footstep of the French invader. Her soul was heavy with her wrongs and the wrongs of her country, in that momentous hour; and placing her hand upon the head of her kneeling boy, she blessed him, and in the spirit of prophecy said: "You have work to do, my son. When I am gone, rebuild the waste places of our beloved Prussia, and remember you shall yet live to avenge her cruel wrongs."

That boy is now the acknowledged Emperor of Germany, and France lies crushed and bleeding beneath his victorious heel as no nation ever was before. Yesterday the victorious Germanic legions, with the son of the insulted and outraged Prussian Queen at their head, entered Paris as the French legions entered Berlin, while the whole city was prostrate at their feet.

At His Old Tricks.

H. N. Snyder writes to the Chattanooga Times, as follows, from Washington:

"Mr. Blodgett will undoubtedly get his seat, and it is a matter of great importance to all the material interests of the South that he should be seated. While Dr. Miller, the outgoing Senator, was unfavorable to Congressional legislation in behalf of the Cincinnati Southern Railway, Mr. Blodgett was its earnest advocate. Mr. Blodgett is an earnest worker, and keeps pace with the necessities of the times, and the advanced ideas of the age."

So, it seems Blodgett is liberally promising to grind anybody's axe that will vote to let him in. One thing is very certain, that there is no illegal job, that needs an unscrupulous assistant that will not gain his pledge of support, if thereby his Senatorial chances will be aided.

Curiosities of Photography in New York.

The World of Sunday, has a long and interesting article on photographers and photography in New York, from which we extract the following:

A photographer was visited some weeks ago by a lady who wished a full length picture with her dress lifted so as to show her ankles. The gentleman who accompanied her was altogether the most difficult to suit in the matter, and some six or eight attempts were made before the ankles were properly shown, and then the photographer discovered that he was a fashionable shoemaker, and this lady had made some arrangement with him to receive boots in return for pictorial advertisements. Doubtless there is now exhibited somewhere on the same street, a pair of well-turned ankles and trim walking boots, with the manufacturer's name rudely plastered under them.

Mrs. Governor Bullock's Reception.—Mrs. Gov. Bullock gave a brilliant party, at the Executive mansion, in Atlanta, on the 9th, in honor of Mrs. Josiah Oakes, of West Thirty-ninth street, N. Y., and Miss Brown, daughter of Dr. Rufus Brown, of Detroit, who are visiting Mrs. Bullock. The assemblage was large, and the toilettes of the ladies elegant. Among the many distinguished people present were Mrs. Gov. Bullock in black Lyons velvet, elaborately trimmed with exquisite black lace, ostrich tip, point lace and diamonds; Mrs. Josiah Oakes, from New York, wore a Sultana Duchesse silk, en train, trimmed with lace and ostrich feathers, exquisite point lace and diamonds; Miss Jessie Brown, from Detroit, wore white French organdie, stylishly trimmed with evergreen; Miss Sylvester May, of Bridgeport, Conn., wore a rich black silk, made by Worth, elegantly trimmed; Mrs. H. I. Kimball in a superb corn-colored moire, diamonds; Mrs. deGraffenried, from Macon, was stylishly dressed in white silk, her bridal dress; Chief Justice Lochrane, ex-Gov. Brown and lady, Miss Brown, Lieut-Gov. Conley, Judge Erskine, of the U. S. Court, Mrs. and Miss Erskine, Judge McCay of the Supreme Court, and Mrs. McCay, Gen. Rugar, of the U. S. A., and Mrs. Lewis, Col. and Mrs. Peters, and Miss Peters, and Mr. Peters, and Miss Thompson. The music, by the full band of the U. S. garrison, was most excellent, and the entire floor of the spacious mansion was fully occupied by the votaries of the poetic motion. Supper was served at 12 o'clock and the tables exhibited the work of some of our New York florists and confectioners, in an admirable display of flowers, candied fruits, jellies, cakes, etc., etc., and of the more substantial viands, in a style of plenty and abundance of the best. The wines flowed freely and was pronounced by competent judges, to be from the most desirable vintage. At 2 o'clock the last dance was concluded, and the the guests departed, congratulating Gov. and Mrs. Bullock and their visiting friends upon the most enjoyable and magnificent entertainment given at the capital this season.

BISMARCK AND MOLTKE.—The correspondent of the London Daily News, in a letter from Versailles, declares that the great Diplomatist and Statesman and the great General who are now the lustrous stars of modern history, heartily detest each other; and the suggestion is thrown out that King William is not altogether satisfied with his powerful Minister. The correspondent writes:

"During the siege of Paris, Moltke would not allow Bismarck to have a seat at any council of war; and, in order to return the compliment, Bismarck has not allowed Moltke to take any part in the negotiations respecting the armistice, except on the points which were exclusively military. Bismarck tells the French that had it not been for him, Paris would have been utterly destroyed; while Von Moltke grumbles because the city has not been destroyed—an achievement which this talented Captain somewhat singularly imagines would fittingly crown his military career."

JESSE ON DENT.—"So ye'r goin' to Washington, are ye?" said the venerable father of the Administration to a half-fare ticket on its way to the carnival.

"Yes, I believe I am," was the response.

"Well, I'll tell you what I'll do; I'll give you a letter of introduction, and write it right now." And so the venerable patriarch penned the epistle, and continued, "Now ye'll go to the White House; walk right in; ye'll see a lot of fellers in a sort o' uniform, but don't be scart; just say you want to see the President, and walk up stairs. If you meet a Dent, and ye'll be certain to do that, don't tell 'em ye've got a letter. They're the lyingest creatures in the world, they'll want that letter, an' if they get it you'll never see Lys, and Lys'll never see that letter. You jist say you want only to shake hands with that great man, Gen Grant, and march in."

The instrucsions were followed, and Lys, the great man, duly shaken.

☞ When General Fairherbe (the Commander of the French Army of the North) was Governor of the Colony of Senegal, he was greatly harassed by the continual attacks of one of the African chiefs, whom he at last reduced to subjection, and compelled to give hostages for his future tranquility. The chief, as a proof of his faith, gave up his son and his daughter. The General, touched by this mark of confidence, treated his captives with every attention, and provided for them the best education that the colony afforded; and when, on leaving Senegal, the son was returned to his father, the young Africaine accompanied the General as his wife. Mme. Faidherbe is both witty and graceful, and quite capable of holding her own in her husband's society.

☞ In the event of the adoption of the national educational scheme, lately proposed to Congress, we should have thirty-seven State superintendents of schools, 243 general inspectors, 5,000 local inspectors, and an army of about 150,000 teachers, all appointed in the interest of the party in power, and we should have to pay a tax of about $60,000,000, with the privilege of saying yes or no, as to the manner in which it should be used.

☞ London has 316 newspapers, of which twenty-one are daily—twelve morning and nine evening; 216 are weeklies, 109 of which are issued on Saturday, and only one on Sunday. It has also 473 periodical publications, such as magazines, reviews, etc., of which 229 are religious, representing every shade of opinion. It has fifty-nine juvenile publications, nearly all of them illustrated.

☞ Farnsworth has been going for Butler again, and this time he has managed to put Ben in a bad box. His charge is that Ben's parlors in Washington were graced with $10,000 mirrors borrowed, from the Treasury Department, and that one mirror has disappeared altogether, and another is broken.

ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—The Democratic caucus this morning resolved that it was the duty of every member to remain in his seat to defeat the dangerous legislation.

Collector Whitner, of the Third South Carolina District, reports that his Assistant and an illicit distiller, killed each other the first fire.

The government has official advices from Camp Supply, indicating Indian hostilities. The tribes, instead of killing buffalo, are fattening ponies, which knowing ones say indicates a general raid on the white settlements.

Nothing has transpired regarding the proceedings of the high commission, except the details of their dinners.

There are eight vacant seats in the Senate.

The Republican caucus determined to remain in session until the Southern affairs are fully discussed, and some law devised which will satisfy Southern extremists.

Morton's bill making outrages amenable to Federal courts and exacting iron-clad oaths from Federal jurors, will be presented on Monday.

A Senate caucus appointed a committee of five to confer with similar committee from the House caucus to devise means to enforce the bill.

LATER.—More reliable facts regarding the Republican Senatorial caucus.

Resolved, That only Ku-Klux bill be entertained.

Efforts in favor of legislating on salt, coal and Cincinnati and Southern Railroad failed.

The majority of all parties seem indisposed to enter upon general legislation.

3 45, P. M.—The barometer has risen upon the Atlantic coast but only to fall rapidly. Since this morning, there has been a very general but irregular diminution of pressure west of the Alleghanies. There has been a decided fall, with heavy rains, on the Gulf, and a heavy fall with threatening weather at the Rocky Mountains. The winds are everywhere light or fresh, and no serious disturbance is anywhere indicated.

Threatening clouds very generally prevail north of the Ohio Valley, and the same with occasional rains on the Atlantic and Gulf. It is probable that cloudy weather will prevail on Sunday in the Gulf and central States, and that an area of diminishing pressure will be developed in Ohio to-night. Fresh winds and cloudy weather indicated for the Atlantic coast.

ALABAMA.

MOBILE, March 11.—There was severe rain and thunder to day, lasting five hours. A negro woman was killed by lightning. The eastern and western portions of the city were completely overflowed; bridges were washed away and stores flooded. The heavy losses of the merchants by the overflow is due in a great part to the new track of the New Orleans, Mobile and Chattanooga Railroad. The loss by the overflow, in bridges and merchandise, is $20,000.

Cleared—ship Chancellor, A. J. Ingersoll & Co., with 5,672 bales, weighing 2,844,490 lbs., the largest cargo cleared since the war.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, March 11.—The jury in the Federal Court, in the case of the Government vs. Wm. Weld & Co., of Boston, for $400,000 sugar tariff, failed to agree.

PRUSSIA.

BERLIN, March 11.—The South German elections resulted in the election of fifty Liberals, ten Conservatives, and fifteen Clericals.

Bonapartist intrigues are rife in Brussels and elsewhere.

FRANCE.

PARIS, March 11.—Gen. Trochu is insane. The heart disease killed Rochefort.

MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—The Tribune of to-day, says editorially: "The impolicy of removing Mr. Sumner from the Chair of the Committee on Foreign Relations, without better pretext than his discordant social relations with the White House and Department of State, must now be clearly manifest to the dullest official at Washington."

No debate since the San Domingo Commission was authorized, has aroused so much feeling or elicited such strong language, as that of yesterday on the election of the standing committees of the Senate.

It seems plainer than we could wish from the line of that debate, and from the language of the influential journals of the country from which we quote, that a new cause of dissension has been needlessly forced upon the Republican party.

The Herald says, editorially, that "until yesterday the Republicans felt confident of carrying New Hampshire by at least seventeen hundred majority, but the news of the action of the Senate caucus is reported to have somewhat shaken their confidence."

Yesterday evening, a prominent Republican published an article denunciatory of President Grant, for his course towards the Massachusetts Senator, which, as our correspondent states, casts a gloom over the party, and elated the Democrats considerably; whether it will give the State to the Democrats is uncertain; but it is evident that the quarrel between Grant and Sumner is destined to produce a war of factions in the ranks of their party, at least in New England.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, March 11.—The Sturtevant House, an immense and elegant hotel on Broadway, 28th and 29th streets, under the management of the Lelands, was formally opened to night by a reception to the members of the press and others.

CUBA.

HAVANA, March 11.—The Diario, in an editorial, advocates the placing of a price upon the head of Maximo Gomez, the insurgent General. Assigning as a reason that Gomez is a foreigner, and an incendiary.

An insurgent, Captain Carlos Cerice Toments, before being led to execution, at Cienfuegos, was married.

ITALY.

ROME, March 11.—Disturbances occurred this morning in Jesus Church. Though there was considerable fighting, no person was wounded. Order was promptly restored by the authorities.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, March 11.—Eleven were killed and twenty-three wounded by an accident on a Northwestern Railway.

The report that Emperor Napoleon was coming to Chiselhurst is premature. He is not expected at present.

SWITZERLAND.

ZURICH, March 11.—A German celebration in honor of the return of peace, which began on Thursday, was disturbed by some French officers who are detained here as prisoners of war. The German music hall was attacked and occupied by the French and several persons were injured in the melee.

The Swiss Federal Council at once ordered the adoption of such measures as to put an end to the tumult and prevent its recurrence. The disturbances, nevertheless, were resumed on Friday, when the "controlle" of the Germans were again stormed by the French, and the German flag torn to pieces. Subsequently a large number of the people of Zurich, who sympathized with the Germans, attacked the prison in which sixteen officers of the French Mobile Guards, arrested on the previous day, were imprisoned.

Swiss soldiers, who were guarding the prison, at once fired upon and repulsed the mob, but unfortunately killed and wounded several innocent people in their houses, on the opposite side of the street.

The riot has been thoroughly quelled, and to-day the city is quiet.

There was only one killed during the disturbance. The Federal Council sent for a battallion of infantry and two batteries of artillery to assist in keeping the peace. Further disturbances are apprehended.

ON and after this date, Mr. E. B. Floyd is associated with me as a partner in the Fine Jewelry Store. The name and style of firm from the above date is Sharp & Floyd.

GEO. SHARP, Jr.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

To my friends and the public, it is with great pleasure I announce the name of Mr. Floyd as a partner in my business. Mr. F. is a practical watchmaker and a fine jeweler. His long experience, with leading jewelry manufactories, for the past eleven years, besides experience in the old firm of the Live Jewelry Store, will give energy and capital, added to other inducements to purchasers able the new firm to offer unheard-of bargains in styles, quality and variety far superior to all efforts made heretofore. All new styles as fast our firm to lead the market in the factories, and as they are introduced by the trade. We shall buy exclusively for cash, and can offer goods in our line on better terms than they can be manufactured in the South. Our motto goes "quick sales and small profits."

Thanking friends for their generous support in the past, and trust kind appreciation of my humble efforts to establish, in this city, a first-class, honest, reliable and fashionable jewelry trade, and asking a continuance of their favors for the new firm.

I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

THERE were no criminal cases before any of the Justices on yesterday. During the past week the civil business in these courts has been quite heavy.

HANLEITER'S forthcoming Directory of Atlanta, promises to be the best work of the kind ever published in the South. He is taking more time or ordinary pains to have it correct. He feels it binding on him "to do his level best."

This plastering of the rooms on the Union Passenger Depot was done by that indefatigable and, if Gen. Tarrance's work does great credit to this Mr. Tarrance, it will be remembered, did the plastering of the H. I. Kimball House and the State House. He is not to be excelled in his line anywhere.

MEMORIAL SERVICE.—Rev. Dr. Lovick Pierce will preach the memorial sermon in honor of the late Bishop James Osgood Andrew, at Wesley Chapel this Sunday morning at 10½ o'clock. He will also preach in the evening at 7½ o'clock at the same church.

The horticultural exhibition of plants and flowers by our enterprising friend, E. Van Gottsonen, in the H. I. Kimball House, is attracting considerable attention. It is one of the handsomest exhibitions of the kind that we have ever seen.

"Where occasion allows, he acts with vigor and power, and renders the softer passages of the lyre with a tenderness and pathos that at once aways and melts his audience. Of Mrs. Watkins it might be said that she has indeed found that wondrous fountain for which the knightly Spaniard sought so severely so many years ago. Though she has been the "Star" of the South for so long a time, we do not believe that she could ever have looked more attractive than when she appeared before the footlights last evening. Hers is a winning loveliness which subdues every heart. While her personal appearance could easily excuse mediocre histrionic talent, her well earned reputation attests that she possessed the somewhat rare combination of beauty and great ability. Her acting is natural—for the perfection of art is resemblance to nature—forcible and effective, and elicited the most enthusiastic applause from the audience. She also sang several favorite songs, displaying a voice of fine power and compass, and to one of them the response was a rapturous encore."

SPRING STYLES, 1871.

SPRING OVERCOATS. SPRING OVERCOATS.

THE GREAT VERNAL SPECIFIC.—No class of invalids are more sensitive to changes of season and variations of temperature than dyspeptics and persons of bilious habit. Tender lungs are not more easily affected by these vicissitudes than feeble stomachs. If there is a tendency in the system to indigestion, biliousness, or bowel complaints, the variable weather of early spring is almost sure to develope one or the other of these ailments. Intermittent fevers are also more prevalent in the spring months than at any other season except autumn. In view of these facts, this seems to be a proper time to invite especial attention to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine, which for a long series of years, has proved superior to all others as a remedy for the aboved named disorders, and as protection against the miasma which frequently produces, and always aggravates them. It was formerly the practice to give violent cathartics as "spring medicines," nor is the custom yet entirely obsolete. Nothing, however, can be more ill judged and unphilosophical. The chilling moisture with which the air is loaded at the breaking up of winter, presses heavily upon the vital forces of the body, and reinforcement, not depletion, is what it requires. The Bitters is a genial and excellent tonic, a moderate alterative, and just enough of an aperient to regulate, without convulsing, the bowels. It is, therefore, a specific peculiarly adapted to the present season. march2—d1w&w1t

LIFE Insurance appears to be all the rage at the present time. On all sides we hear of new companies springing into existence, some to drag along a few years and then subside, others having sound capitalists at their head become powerful corporations, doing good to the widow and orphan. No one, in this go ahead age, that considers himself a prudent man, but will have a policy of insurance on his life. These same parties will find it prudent to keep their digestive organs in tone and their system in health by taking an occasional dose of the tonic of the age—Lippman's German Bitters. TWENTY-FIVE PER CENT. SAVED by using Dooley's Yeast Powders in the preparation of biscuits, rolls, pastry, etc., over any of the ordinary baking powders in market. This is occasioned by the fact not weight in each package, and the fact that it is composed of articles strictly pure, healthy and nutritious, which insures satisfactory results every time. By using Dooley's Yeast Powders, thirty pounds more bread can be made from a barrel of flour, than by any other process of raising dough. A trial will satisfy any one of its standard excellence. GOOD NEWS AND GOOD-BYE OLD RAT. Prof. Isaacson, the inventor of the famous "Sure Pop" is here. His preparation is entirely a new thing. Prof. I., has made the subject of rats and mice a life long study, and the result has been the manufacture of rat killer, which causes them to leave their holes and die in the open air. Besides certificates from the crowned heads of Europe, Prof. Isaacson has some from Willard's Hotel, the White House, Washington; Astor House, New York, etc. The rats do not die on the premises, consequently there is no bad odor arising from the dead rats. Every family should have a box of it, as it costs only 25 cents. For sale by all druggists. march12—deod1w

To do this is the peculiar province of Dr. J. Bradfield's Female Regulator; which, from the numberless cures it has accomplished, is appropriately styled Woman's Best Friend. PHYSICIANS USE THEM IN THEIR PRACTICE. It is almost universally the case that physicians condemn what are generally known as "Patent Medicines." Where are We Now?

The Hon. Sidney Dean, a Rhode Island Senator, recently delivered an exhaustive speech a propos to the calling of a Constitutional Convention in April, and thus defines the country as it is:

"We have survived our struggle with slavery, a cancer at the vitals of our system, which threatened to destroy it. We have passed safely the ordeal of a civil war such as the world never before witnessed. We, with prudent and wise management, have our immense debt well under control; but we are losing the spirit of vigilance which characterized the fathers, and we are drifting towards uncertain and dangerous seas.

The rights, are, almost the existence of the individual, is sinking out of sight, and mammoth corporations and combinations are, with the hundred hands of the fabled Briareus, grasping power. Already the currency and the coin of the country is at the mercy of unprincipled gamblers, branded or disbanded, at the convenience of their operations. Already mammoth corporations control nearly the whole of our inter-State commerce at the expense of the toiling thousands whose industry is the wealth, as their virtues are the glory of the State. Our public domain is being frittered away or swallowed up in the remorseless stomachs of corporations who have bodies but not souls; an army of officials and tax gatherers fatten upon the hard earnings of the people, and the insane devil of spending riots where, under the earlier administration of the country, and the practices of the people, thrift and economy held their court. In these times, sir, it becomes us to seek after and touch the foundation principles of our government, and by wise legislation and proper safeguards to conserve and protect the rights of the citizen. The individual is the basis of government under the American idea, not money nor lands nor hereditaments nor corporations nor offices. Let the individual and his rights be fully acknowledged and protected. In him lies the safety and prosperity of the State."

THE ATLANTA AND SAVANNAH RAILROAD. The Grand Jury of Baldwin county make the following allusion to this enterprise, in their presentments:

The proposed building of the Savannah and Atlanta Railroad through Milledgeville, also, the various opinions of the tax-payers of the county in reference to transferring the stock of the Macon and Augusta Railroad owned by the county into the capital stock of the Savannah and Atlanta Railroad, have received our attention.

Great Remedies.

DR. JOHN BULL,

Manufacturer and Vendor of the Celebrated

Smith's Tonic Syrup,

Ague and Fever,

—OR—

Chills and Fever.

THE Proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the safe, certain, speedy and permanent cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southwestern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion, that in no case whatever will it fail to cure, if the directions are strictly carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long standing cases. Usually, this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order; should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

Bull's Worm Destroyer.

To my United States and World-wide Readers.

I have received many testimonials from professional and medical men, as my Almanacs and various publications have shown, all of which are genuine. The following letter, from a highly esteemed and popular physician in Georgia, is certainly one of the most sensible communications I have ever received. Dr. Clement knows exactly the locality of, and his treatment deserves to be written in letters of gold. Hear what the Doctor says of Bull's Worm Destroyer:

VALLASOW, Walker County, Ga., June 28, 1869.

DR. JOHN BULL:

DEAR SIR—I have recently given your "Worm Destroyer" several trials, and find it wonderfully efficacious. It has not failed in a single instance to have the desired effect. I am doing a pretty large country practice, and have daily use for some article of the kind. I am free to confess that I know of no remedy recommended by the above authors that is so certain and speedy in its effects. On the contrary, they are uncertain in the extreme. My object in writing you is to find out from those some one more ingenious than myself may have learned its effects first, and secured the sole right to secure that knowledge. However, I am by no means an advocate or supporter of the thousands of worthless nostrums that flood the country, that purport to cure all manner of diseases to which human flesh is heir. Please reply soon, and inform me of your best terms. I am, sir, most respectfully,

JULIUS P. CLEMENT, M. D.

BULL'S SARSAPARILLA.

A GOOD REASON FOR THE CAPTAIN'S FAITH.

READ THE CAPTAIN'S LETTER AND THE LETTER FROM HIS MOTHER.

BENTON BARRACKS, Mo., April 30, 1866.

DR. JOHN BULL—DEAR SIR: Knowing the efficiency of your Sarsaparilla, and like blushing and bashful qualities it possesses, I send you the following statement of my case.

I was wounded two years ago—was taken prisoner and confined for sixteen months. Being moved so often, my wounds have not healed yet. I have not set up a moment since I was wounded. I am shot through the hips. My general health is impaired, and I need something to assist nature. I have more faith in your Sarsaparilla than in anything else. I wish that that is genuine. Please express me half a dozen bottles, and oblige, CAPT. C. P. JOHNSON,

St. Louis, Mo.

P. S.—The following was written April 30, 1866, by Mrs. Jeanie Johnson, mother of Captain Johnson:

DR. BULL—Dear Sir: My husband, Dr. C. S. Johnson, was a skillful surgeon and physician in Central New York, where he died, leaving the above C. P. Johnson to my care. At thirteen years of age he had a chronic diarrhœa and scrofula, for which I gave him your Sarsaparilla. IT CURED HIM. I have for ten years recommended it to many in New York, Ohio and Iowa, for scrofula, fever sores and general debility. Perfect success has attended it. The cures effected in some cases of scrofula and fever sores were almost miraculous. I am very anxious for my son to again take remedy of your Sarsaparilla. He is scared of getting a spurious article, hence his writing to you for it. His wounds were terrible but I believe he will recover. Respectfully,

JENNIE JOHNSON.

STONEY POINT, WHITE CO., ARK., Feb. 28, 1866.

DR. JOHN BULL—Dear Sir: Last February I was in Louisville purchasing drugs, and I got some of your Sarsaparilla and Cedron Bitters.

My son-in-law, who was with me in the store, has been down with rheumatism for some time, commenced on the Bitters, and soon found his general health improved.

Dr. Gist, who has been in bad health, tried them, and he also improved.

Dr. Coffee, who has been in bad health for several years—stomach and liver affected—he improved very much by the use of your Bitters. Indeed, the Cedron Bitters has given you great popularity in this settlement. I think I could sell a great quantity of your medicines this fall, especially of your Cedron Bitters and Sarsaparilla. Ship me via Memphis, care Riebolt & Neely. Respectfully,

C. B. WALKER.
